By United Press.
CHICAGO, July 24.—Friends and intimates of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb today helped the state pave the way for punishment of the millionaire youths who murdered Robert Frank.

Slowly but surely State's Attorney Crowe produced damning fragments of evidence which he hopes will force Justice John R. Cawley to order the boys to be hanged.

There were several dramatic moments at today's early session. They came when Elizabeth Sattler, a maid in the Leopold home for four years, took the stand. She is small and fair and spoke with a pronounced accent. There is a strong bond of affection between the maid and young Leopold and Nathan was visibly affected as she took the stand. Their eyes met and the girl looked at the boy in misery.

"Yes," she almost whispered as she was asked whether the typewriter on which the $10,000 ransom letter was written was similar to the portable machine she had seen in the Leopold home. "Yes," was the whispered response to the question of whether a charred automobile rug was similar to the one she had seen in the Leopold home.

Miss Sattler was on the stand but a moment or two and seemed near collapse. Leopold and Loeb again lost their amused smiles when Dr. Emil Deutsch, an eye specialist, testified that the glasses found near the body of Robert Frank had been prescribed for Nathan Leopold.

Four students of Chicago University, former intimates of Leopold during his law studies, further helped the state by testifying to the ownership of the typewriter used by Leopold. Leopold and Loeb tried to act in a careless manner but showed concern as friend after friend mounted the stand.

BERRY PICKER FINDS BODY OF MURDERED MAN

A dismembered and decomposed body of a man, believed by authorities to be that of Andy Cristof of Fairchance, was found last night in a field near Thorn Bottom better known as Brown Station, by Dan Yasko of Butte, who was picking berries. Identification was based on a bank book from the Merchants and Miners State Bank of Uniontown bearing Cristof's name found in the clothing. The book showed a cash balance of approximately $1,500. A receipt for $100 from the same bank was also found in the clothing, as was a watch.

Yasko notified Rev. Stanislaus Moravsek, pastor of St. John's Slovak Church, Connellsville, who notified the coroner's office.

Upon examining the body, coroner S. A. Baliz discovered that a steel jacketed bullet had entered the head over the left ear and passed through. The body was in a bad state of decomposition and at the time it was found the head was found several feet away from the body, having probably been dragged there by rodents.

The theory is advanced by authorities that Cristof was held up near Thorn Bottom and possibly retained and was shot. Then the body was dragged into the field. The remains were removed to the mortuary of W. C. Whetzel at Upper Middletown.

Informal Conferences of Premier and Finance Ministers Being Continued in Hope of Getting to Plenary Session and Definite Action on Reparations.

By United Press.

LONDON, July 24.—American and British participants in the informal conference maintained optimism today despite the impasse to which differences of opinion between international bankers on the one hand and the French government on the other have brought the parity conference. It was expected that a week-end of rapid-fire interchange of discussion would solve the difficulties which still center around the subject of reparations.

Early this morning the informal conference at the prime ministers' residence was resumed, with Ambassador Kellogg, Premier Herriot and Finance and Count de Solf. In an effort to reconcile the bankers' demands for security for the $200,000,000 German loan with the French demand for reparations, the meeting broke up at noon without a decision.

Premier Herriot and Finance Minister Briand walked home together across St. James Park, their heads close together. The British statesman is understood to be doing his utmost to effect another compromise. Later this afternoon Ambassador Kellogg and Secretary of State Hughes are attending one of King George's garden parties at Buckingham Palace.

Hughes, despite his avowed intention of keeping hands off the conference, has been busy trying to smooth out the difficulties between his many engagements with the bar association convention. He is not seeing any of the conference officials but has conferred with MacDonnell, Thomson and Snowden. British Finance Minister, Lord Snowden, is the chairman of the conference. The American secretary of state lunched today with Lord Balfour.

LONDON, July 24.—With the French maintaining the anxiety of the Versailles treaty and the international bankers equally firm in their demands for definite guarantees to satisfy investors in America, and elsewhere who will be asked to support a German loan necessary to launch the Dawes plan, the inter-allied conference has resolved itself into a delicate waiting game.

The question of Germany's presence at the conference was discussed and was virtually the only advance made at the second plenary session held in the foreign office this afternoon. The committee appointed a week ago have withheld their reports because it is impossible to make any real progress until existing differences between bankers and the French are ironed out.

Both are unyielding but the British, Belgian and American delegates are striving toward a compromise. The good offices of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon were invoked at a Downing street breakfast yesterday morning, when he was the guest of Premier MacDonnell. Later Mr. Mellon conferred at No. 10 with Mr. MacDonnell, Thomas Lamont, Sir Montagu Norman and Sir Robert Kindersley, directors of the Bank of England. It was stated last night that Mr. Mellon in an unofficial way had contributed a suggestion which was likely to be of great assistance in finding a way out of the deadlock.

French delegates take the view that the bankers are interlopers in the London conference which should be of a wholly political nature, but the bankers maintain they are merely interpreting their investing markets so that the needed loan will be subscribed readily when the German government asks for it.

Mason Winner of Tag-of-War With North End.*STRUBLES STAR ATHLETES

Families of John E. and Annal Come Home With Bulk of Prizes Offered in Sports Events Crowded at Annal's Picnic at Idlewild Estimated 5,000.

Frick veterans, their families and friends to the number of 5,000, estimated, attended the annual outing of the Frick Veterans Association at Idlewild Park Wednesday. It was said there were a thousand automobiles parked about the picnic resort while two special trains carried hundreds of picnickers from various parts of the coke region.

For an outing the day was almost ideal, although a part of it was rather warm. Mr. Mason made the trip in motor cars the atmospheric conditions could hardly have been better. Aside from the picnic dinner and supper and the general reunion of the day there were a number of sports events. One of the most interesting of these was the tug of war between teams representing the North End and the South End of the region. H. E. Mason superintendent of Lehigh-Norfolk No. 1 plant was captain of the South End team, the winning one. The rope broke during the tug but the South Enders were nearer the goal, all the time encouraged to do their best by Captain Mason's famous bass voice.

Trotter won the ball game with Hostetter No. 2 and again honors came to the South End.

The name Struble figured largely among the winners of athletic events. Miss Margaret Struble, daughter of Miss Inspector and Mrs. John L. Struble of Connellsville, came out ahead in the 50-yard dash for women. She won an umbrella for the exertion. Mrs. George Struble of Connellsville sister-in-law of Margaret, won a blouse in the clothe-line race. Josephine Struble daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Struble of Lockport and a cousin Margaret shared with Anna Struble a slater, in winning the relay race for girls under 16. Josephine received a string of pearls and Anna a cash prize. In the ball-driving contest Mrs. Amos Struble won the prize a pair of silk stockings. Her daughter, Josephine, captured the 50 yard dash for girls under 16 taking a half dozen handkerchiefs.

Then John L. Struble, one of the leaders in arrangements for the outing shared honor with Miss Inspector S. H. Hat of Connellsville in winning a round at horsehoes with a Laitrobe team. Again the South End was the victor.

Other winners were: Pre-fore-all 100 yard dash for men—E. D. Reider, Scottsdale, big cigars. Hundred-yard dash for boys under 16—Baker, Worthington, telegraphing No. 1 catcher's glove.

Fifty-yard dash for boys under 10—Paul Jones, Canbair baseball, second prize Eugene Wira, Mammoth, basketball ball.

Sack race—Baker, Worthington, telegraphing big watch. Baseball throwing for women—Mrs. Whisort United, six handkerchiefs. Baseball throwing for men—William Ribbeck, United baseball.

The ceremony was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Edmunds residence and was witnessed by the immediate members of the two families. The wedding is of much interest socially, the bride being a popular member of Connelville's younger set. She was graduated from the Connelville High School a member of the class of 1917 and following her graduation from Concho College Baltimore Md. she took a post graduate course at Cornell University. For the past two years she was instructor of English in the high school at Tyrone Pa. Mr. Grimm is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George T. Grimm of Connelville and has many friends here. He is assistant chief electrical foreman at the sheet and tin plant division of the Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point. An out of town guest at the wedding was Susan Taylor of Uniontown, an uncle of the bridegroom. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Grimm and guests at the wedding motored to Greensburg, where a wedding dinner of charming appointments was served at the Rappie Hotel. Covers for eight were laid and pink and white roses centered the table. Mr. Grimm and bride left for Baltimore from which city they will go by boat to Boston, Mass. They will visit various New England points. Upon their return they will be at home after August 16 at 711 C street, Sparrows Point.

WHAT KIND OF IRON HAVE YOU BEEN TAKING?

The answer depends on the kind of iron you are taking. If you are taking a cheap, low-grade iron, you are taking a waste of money. If you are taking a high-grade iron, you are taking a real benefit.

A child must have iron to make bones, but it gets organic iron from milk and not mineral iron from iron rocks. So the millions of red blood corpuscles in your blood must have iron, but not cheap, low-grade iron. You need a high-grade iron, one that is easy to absorb, one that is pure, one that is free from all impurities. You need a high-grade iron, one that is easy to absorb, one that is pure, one that is free from all impurities.

This will surprise you.

We don't believe you have ever found a soap combining such wonderful cleansing lather as Sweetheart's with such soothing mildness for tender skin, and such a low price for a big, generous oval cake. It's a natural creamy white, honestly made from more costly materials than are customary—without a penny for color disguise, heavy perfume or fancy wrapper—it's just fine soap.

North End Beats West Side in Playground League

The North Enders increased their lead in the City Playground League this morning by defeating the West Siders by a 7 to 3 score. Hunt Michener and Carretti formed the battery for the North Enders, while Colborn and Polser worked for the West Siders. The league leaders were able to get but five hits off Colborn while the West Enders collected seven.

Plant Eats Animals

A most unusual plant that reverses the natural order of things by eating animals has recently been put on display at the London Horticultural hall in England, says The Blue. This meat eating plant is a native of the tropical East Indies. Its principal prey are mice which are attracted to it by a very pungent odor emanating from the mouth of the blossom, formed into almost a perfect hole. The mice crawl into this opening and natural bridges on the petals close about the victim as it makes an attempt to escape. Digestive juices similar to those secreted in the stomach of animals are given off, and the victim is slowly consumed.

White Lily Ham Sandwiches

THERE is no more delicious article of food than a good ham sandwich—for home lunches or outdoor picnics. And there is no better ham than White Lily.

The uniform quality of White Lily Hams and Bacon is something to be relied upon. You don't get a good ham today and a poor one next week—every White Lily Ham is perfect and as nearly the same as we can make it—taken from choice, thin-skinned little porkers, properly cured and thoroughly smoked in fragrant hickory smoke—the process is absolutely uniform and the hams are too.

A whole White Lily Ham will provide meat for the average family for a week—equally delicious and satisfying, baked or fried—and needs no parboiling. U. S. Government inspected—be sure that your dealer supplies White Lily.

Aviators and Hay Making Time

"If the American world-circling diers wish to command full attention of the faroese islanders they must make Thorshaven, the island capital, before July 29," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.
"For the tropical, serious faroese folk have one important holiday, St. Olaf's day, on July 29, and the next day they invariably start hay making. The weather, or the condition of the crop, has no bearing; the traditional date must be observed."
"When the fliers alight on one of the little island groups which lies midway between the Shetlands and Iceland the airplanes will be a novelty to the people. Equally novel, moreover, would be an automobile, a horse and wagon, a boy on roller skates or any vehicle on wheels. The islands are roadless."
"The capital, Thorshaven, has no paved streets. Houses are helter-skelter, paths twist among them, herds of wandering black ducks keep the clean. Fowls deliver groceries and milk and house luxuries in an instant. The fliers will find a novel joke by 'abutting' too frequently on these tortuous thoroughfares."
"If the fliers carried nightsticks they might well afford a long stopover at the faroes. There are 21 islands of appreciable size, 17 are inhabited, and some of the latter often have no off-land visitors for years.
Not practically all of the islands have abundant natural beauties—especially the tall cliffs, narrow, fantastic, washed by exceptionally strong tidal currents, and circled by wild birds."
"The faroes' unique, natural feature is Lake Soorvaag, on Vaago. Practically surrounded by inaccessible walls for all of its six mile length, the water finds an overway on a seaward slit and falls a sheer 130 feet into the ocean. It is the only lake of its size in the world that pours its water directly into the sea.

"Gardens are at a premium in the islands. Sheep and goats don't aid gardening. In the small American village of a generation ago the clergyman usually had the one home library in the town, in the faroes the pastor often has the only garden.
"The animals are not wholly to blame for the somewhat barren landscapes—barren of trees and natural growth as well as of gardens. The islands are among the cloudiest regions of the world; over a considerable period only five days a year ranked as cloudless. Our fliers will find the faroes' temperature in midsummer about like that of Denmark in early April. The clouds, not the latitude, are mostly to blame.
"It is hard to get fresh meat on the islands as it would be to order a vegetable luncheon. Having formed the habit of eating the dried meat which has drifted into the dried meat habit from analogy. While meat, aged a year or two and cooked in whole oil is a home delicacy, but is not highly recommended by occasional island guests. The islanders, for their part, can't see why visitors should eat dried fish, which abound in the many islands, under protest. Hosts and guests usually are in agreement, however, on the high merit of the goat cheese and the barley bread baked over a turf fire.
"The islands belong to Denmark, of which they form a county. They have an aggregate land area of about 500 square miles and a total population of 20,000 people."

LAGER INTEREST IN ELECTIONS

Indicates that more persons will cast their ballot in the November election than ever before in the nation's history. Presidential elections have, as a rule, caused many persons to take an interest in the contests at the polls who in the so-called "off years" are as indifferent that they neglect or refuse to perform their duty on election day. The forthcoming contest promises to arouse rather more voters than usual to activity.
There are several reasons which form the basis of the prediction that the election this year will draw an unusually large number of persons to the polls. The fact that there are upwards of a dozen presidential tickets in the field, representing every school of political thought and all gradations of opinion ranging from conservative to ultra radical, will afford opportunity for the following reasons to give expression of their views at the polls. Naturally this will result in an exceptionally heavy vote being polled.
The use of the radio in broadcasting the Cleveland and New York conventions brought the campaign to the attention of millions of people in such a unique way that their interest is much greater than had been dependent upon the newspapers alone for their information. Having thus become more familiar with the process by which the great parties select their standard bearers the listeners in what now appears like a quiet enthusiasm and determination to function as citizens, the November election will be more truly an expression of the popular choice than any that have preceded it.

"CARRY ON" AT HIS WORK AS PRESIDENT IS COOLIDGE PLAN

that the Democrats will attempt to claim full credit for the tax reduction because of his stand for the Mellon plan as against the legislation finally passed by Congress and approved by the executive. It will require a great deal of education—more the Republicans say than is possible in a two months' campaign—to enable the man in the street to differentiate between one tax plan and another.
The important fact to the Republicans is that Secretary Mellon and President Coolidge recommended tax reduction under the present administration.
The President still believes in the Mellon plan and is prepared to defend it in such campaign speeches as he will feel called upon to make. Further Mr. Coolidge intends to recommend the Mellon plan anew to the next session of Congress, regardless of what the results may be at the polls in November. The President will point to his own record, and that of President Harding, on all matters of government economy. So if the Democrats are preparing to stress these issues, as the Republicans now profess to believe, the coming campaign may prove far from exciting and colorful.
The La Follette-Whelan organization is expected to furnish about all the fireworks which may be exploded between now and election day, but it is the Republican plan to ignore this third ticket. That was the message of Chairman Butler's statement that the Republican campaign would be uniform in all sections of the country.
There is to be no fight against the independent one. The effort will be to keep President Coolidge "solid" to the American people.
Mr. Coolidge is quietly formulating his speech of acceptance to be delivered the evening of August 14. He has plenty of time and will not rush the manuscript. The President feels that this will be his one great contribution to the campaign. As a matter of fact it is the only political speech for which he is scheduled at this time. It may be October before he speaks again, except for occasional short addresses by radio.
There is no disposition on the part of Chairman Butler or other leaders of the party to urge a more strenuous campaign program upon the President. They are more than willing to concentrate on his wishes for as much seclusion in the White House as possible and they believe Mr. Coolidge is a far more effective candidate looking to the work of government here in Washington than he would be flying from place to place about the country, talking politics and thinking of politics. Various state leaders are not of a mind on this subject, however. They naturally are desirous of having a visit from the President and nominee. There are factional differences in many states that make the outlook a bit dubious and the local leaders believe a visit from Mr.
Coolidge would do much good.
The President has no intention, however, of going in for that form of campaigning.

A Wilson Joke.
When Josephine Daniels was in Columbus recently, he told a Wilson joke which is not gotten into any of the "funny papers."
"Albert H. Wilson, a Senator, had called at the Wilson sick room to find out, on behalf of the Senate, if the President was really as ill as reports described him.
Standing by the bedside Paul, who upon the recumbent figure of the disabled man, and then, with tears in his voice, delivered himself piously and strongly.
"After Paul had departed Mr. Wilson turned to Josephine and sighed heavily and said:
"You heard what Paul said? Well, I have been wondering what I have done that he should be allowed to quarrel with the Almighty."

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

An Old World Device.

One Mother Says:
The women of Wales carry their babies with the aid of a shawl. It was from a Welshwoman that I obtained this idea of adopting the plan to use when we went on picnics or jaunts where it was impractical to take the baby's crib. The shawl was folded "kitty-corner" and then swung around the shoulders. Then the baby was held on the arm and the ends of the shawl held gathered in the hand, so that most of baby's weight rests in the shawl like a hammock, relieving the supporting arm and leaving one arm free.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined.

An eminent physician, expert in this way, has shown the way to produce the most perfect "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to instruct me, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to go to the doctor because I wasn't very sick about the time of my delivery. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores—everywhere."

Wealthy, but Without Power to Enjoy Life
"Now that you've got me talking," said a retired man, "I'm going to Europe. I might as well admit that I'm not having as much fun out of being what you'd call comfortably fixed financially as I looked forward to in my hard-working days."

"I suppose a good many old fellows would admit that they are in the same fix if their pocket would let them. I worked too hard, not hard enough to kill me or wear me out, but too hard to form a taste for the best things that money can buy."

"The lesson my experience has taught me is that keeping your shoulder to the wheel and pushing ahead, looking neither to the right nor left, and so forth, is not a complete set of directions for making a success in life."

"The rules may get a bank account for a fellow without unusual gifts, but they overlook too many things that count."

"I can't get settled down to a book. I can't sit through a play with any deep stuff in it, and I've even neglected to learn how to make myself agreeable in company, mixed or just plain. Yet I had all that stuff in me when I was a kid—used to read a lot, in fact."

"Take my advice, and if you ever get the money-making bug, don't let it get you, for, unless you're a world-beater no matter how well you make out, you won't be any too near the head of the list."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Just whistle a bit if the day is hot. And the sky be overcast; it must be the voice of the piping lark.

Why, pipe your own small blast. REFRESHING ICES AND DRINKS

While the raspberries are in season look up all the good ways of preserving that delicious berry. Here is one that will be cherished when once used: Raspberry Syrup.—Take twice as much measure for measure of fresh raspberries as vinegar. Put over the heat in a granite kettle and cook until the fruit is mushy. Strain through a muslin cloth and to each quart of this juice add a pound of sugar. Bring to the boiling point again and then bottle and seal. When serving, add a sprig of sugar and the juice to a glass of water. Older vinegar of the best quality may be used and if very acid may be diluted with a little water.

Raspberry Lozenges.—Take a pint of raspberry juice or as much juice as may be pressed from a quart of ripe berries, add a sprig of sugar and a quart of good, rich, fresh buttermilk. Freeze and serve in sherbet cups. This is a most refreshing frozen dish and not so cloying to the taste as frozen cream.

Raspberry and Ploplant.—Take twice as much sliced plo plant as berries, cook together, adding sugar to make a rich preserve. (As usual.) This combination can hardly be sold from the entire berry, as the rhubarb is wholly disguised by the flavor of the raspberry. Strawberries, pineapples and other flavored fruits may be used with good results. As plo plant is cheap, and most berries rather expensive, this makes quite a saving.

Orange Frosting.—To one cupful of confectioners' sugar add the grated rind and juice of an orange with a bit of yellow coloring. Beat until smooth, adding a little cream if needed for richness.

Graham Cracker Cake.—Cream two tablespoonsful of butter, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of sweet milk, two eggs well beaten, thirty-two graham crackers rolled very fine, a little lemon extract, salt and one teaspoonful of soda. Mix and bake in layers, using a lemon cream for filling.

The Paramount

"TEMPORARY MARRIAGE" and "The Gateway to the West" are the leading attractions today at the Paramount.

"Temporary Marriage" is a picture which dramatically tells what occurs in many modern homes. It is a convincing story written by Gilbert Patten and admirably directed by Lambert Hillyer. It brings into a clear and steady focus the consequences of attempting to disregard the advancing years of a wife who would live over the romance of her youth—who would retain her beauty at all costs. You follow the story with tense interest from start to finish.

The picture is enacted by an all-star cast that includes such favorites as Kenneth Harlan, Mildred Davis, Myrtle Stedman, Tully Marshall, Maude George, Stuart Holmes and Edward Cohan. Truly a remarkable cast!

Two hundred mountaineers in the vicinity of Emmerdale, B. C., were recruited to act as riflemen in the battle scenes in "The Gateway to the West." These men lived the roles for which they were engaged, for not only did they fight, but they actually cut the timber and built Fort Necessity exactly as did Washington's troops. The fort was erected as identical to the original structure as indicated by the scanty notes which have come down through history.

Friday and Saturday, Marjorie Daw will be seen in "The Virginian Outcast."

The Soisson

"THE SPITFIRE" which opened today at the Soisson for a three day attraction, presents Betty Blythe, Lowell Sherman, Elliott Dexter, Pauline Garon, Robert Warwick and Darr McFetich in interesting roles.

Wild life in Wall Street and theatrical strokes. That's the sum and substance of "The Spitfire." The glamour girls from sugar-magnates, play producers and their kind. Young man goes wild with the girl and the girl goes wild with the young man. A bank job goes and the "nothing doing" sign hangs on his sweetheart's door by her rich old granddaddy.

Through a fast-moving series of exciting events, Joan Brownson, the girl that Douglas Kenyon would move heaven and earth to marry, finds life has its ups and downs once she is married out of her rich home by her granddaddy who controls everything that money can control and still let live. So, like other girls have done and others will do, being pretty and attractive of figure she goes upon the stage.

Joan and her lover have a tilt and just when things look as though they never would make up, a chain of circumstances brings them together for all time.

The Orpheum

"A BOY OF FLANDERS" a typical Jackie Coogan film, on view today, Friday and Saturday at the Orpheum, is said to be one of the best pictures in which the popular little star has ever appeared.

Left alone by the death of his grandfather, with his only friend, the great dog Petrusche, the little French boy, Nello (Jackie Coogan), has only his milk rattle to keep a roof over his head.

Gifted with remarkable artistic talent, Nello makes a business of his playmaking, alone, the daughter of his wealthy miller, Rosa Oogers, but he knows Oogers's enemy when the miller's house burns, and Oogers thinks Nello started the fire.

Oogers arranges to have Nello sent to a home, but the boy escapes, and remains in hiding until a contest is announced at Antwerp by the famous artist, Jan Van Dallen. The prize money is given to Rosa Oogers to award.

Nello enters his sketch of Alois, but by mistake it is knocked from the table and overlooked by the judges, who award the prize to Nello's rival. Then Oogers discovers he has lost the prize money.

Wandering off broken-hearted at his failure, Nello finds the money, and returns it to Oogers's wife, retaining their share from the "stolen" money, but leaving his dog in her care. Nello's strength gives out in the storm and he falls on the cathedral steps.

Requesting for Lily Mize. It is reported that the Monogram Coal & Coke Company, a subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, is negotiating for the purchase of the Lilly Mize & Coke Company, operating a large modern mine near West Connetquot, Washington, county, with facilities for either river or rail shipments.

Kills Peaky Bed-Bugs P. D. Q.

Just think, a little bottle of P. D. Q. (Peaky Devotee Quinine), makes a great enough to kill a million bedbugs, mosquitoes, flies, etc., and it does so by killing the eggs and does not injure the clothing.

Liquid-drops to the bedbugs is what P. D. Q. is like; bedbugs, when they are covered with a "mortal" in a "peaky" bed, they are dead. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in "scented" bedbug double strength, liquid form.

This Pretty Girl Defies Age By Using Ordinary Buttermilk TO Beautify Her Complexion

Tells druggists not to take anyone's money unless the delightful new vanishing cream quickly shows a decided improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that while it turns the darkest, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greenness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, spots, red or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.
